4. ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

A. Attendance (30%),

All students are expected to fully attend the classes and proactively participate in the course by leading worship and prayer, sharing your reflection, and joining the special activities

B. Reading and Answer sheets (50%)

Students have to read first and hand in the answer sheets after reading each chapter of the course Reader, Kairos: God, the Church and the World.

C. Reading Report (20%)

Students will read one of following books as recommended and write an essay with answering the following questions:

- How does the author or the introduced leader integrate their God-given vision into their lives to put that into practice?
- How the holistic mission is depicted in the book. Take at least a couple of examples.
- What kind of examples of or takeaways you have picked up while reading this book.
- How the lives of missionaries are described in the book?
- What are your applications and how will you put some of them into practices.

Suggested books:

- With stethoscope in Asia: Korea, by Sherwood Hall
- Uncle Cam, by James & Marti Hefley
- Peace Child, by Don Richardson
- The Challenge of Missions, by Owsald J. Smith

Course Coordinator/Head Facilitator:

Gyoojun Lee is a mobilizer working with Wycliffe Bible Translators of Canada. After studying at Yonsei University's English Department (BA) and Presbyterian General Assembly Theological Seminary (M.Div), he worked at Tyrannus Press editing a preaching journal and dedicated himself to the pastoral ministry, serving a small rural church in a remote mountain area in Korea. After being trained as a Bible translator at the Canada Institute of Linguistics (MLE, Master of Applied Linguistics and Exegesis), he has been involved in mobilization ministries for missions in general and Bible translation in particular, based in Toronto, Canada. He taught Introduction to the Bible and Bible Formation at The Reformed Presbyterian Theological Seminary of the East and has served in various programs to help believers and churches become disciple-makers and disciple-making churches, including Perspectives, Kairos Course, LIFEgame, and CHURCHgame. He currently serves as the Korean Language Coordinator for Perspectives Canada, Simply Mobilizing Canada, a board member of CanIL, and the Director of Diaspora Engagement with Wycliffe Canada.
